

AbstractMethod And Apparatus For Network Communication

- 5 A method of enhanced tandem communication is provided between at least a first portion of a network suitable for voice communications and a second portion of a network suitable for voice communications.
- 10 In an embodiment of the present invention, two representations of an encoded signal are transmitted from the first portion of a network, the encoded signal produced by a codec of the first portion of a network.
- 15 FIG. 2